

Unlock the power of personalized practice! Online score reports were released to educators and students for the PSAT/NMSQT. With the release of scores, students may now choose to link their accounts between College Board and Khan Academy to access their personalized practice plan. To link their accounts students need to:

1. Login to or create a Khan Academy account (www.satpractice.org)
2. When prompted, agree to link your Khan Academy and College Board accounts. The site will ask if you want to send your PSAT results to Khan whether you are a new user or already have an account.
3. From Khan Academy students will be directed to sign in or create a College Board account. After successfully logging in, they will be asked for permission to link the accounts.
4. After clicking Send, students will be redirected back to the Khan Academy site to begin practicing.

Students may choose to unlink their accounts by clicking on “Revoke” in the College Board Account Settings. For more information and video instructions go to the Student Score Reports web page (<https://collegereadiness.collegeboard.org/psat-nmsgt-psat-10/scores/student-score-reports>) If for some reason, the students’ account doesn’t yet reflect their scores, it’s likely because College Board was unable to link their student account to their score report. Once students receive their paper report, they will be able to manually link their score and account by using the access code provided on their score report.
